Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is densely packed and covers most of the page. It appears to be a form of early printed or written communication, possibly related to a legal or administrative record. The script is difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature and the age of the document.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowish paper. It consists of approximately 20 lines of text, with some lines starting with a small cross or decorative mark. The script is dense and difficult to decipher without knowledge of the specific language or dialect. The text appears to be a formal or legal document, possibly a contract or a record of a transaction, given the use of terms like 'Kollor' and 'Kollor' which might refer to a specific place or institution. The handwriting is consistent throughout, suggesting a single scribe. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and discoloration, particularly near the bottom edge.
