Handwritten text at the bottom right of the page, including a signature and possibly a date or location. The text is written in Church Slavonic script.

Handwritten text in Church Slavonic script, likely a historical document or charter. The text is densely packed and covers most of the page. It begins with a large decorative initial 'З' (Z) on the left side. The script is a form of Old Church Slavonic, used in the Balkans and parts of Eastern Europe. The text appears to be a formal declaration or agreement, mentioning various titles and locations. At the bottom of the page, there is a large, faint circular stamp or seal, which is partially obscured by the paper's fold and the handwriting. The paper shows signs of age, including discoloration and some wear.
